Visitors
Welcome to historic St. Rose of Lima Catholic Church! Built over a century ago, we all owe a debt of gratitude to the Irish faithful who were the first to call this church their parish. For apart from the countless sacrifices made by that first generation of faithful to build a suitable house of prayer and divine worship for the greater glory of God, this beautiful church would not exist.

Our beautiful stained-glass windows, perhaps the most stunning feature of the church, have been newly restored. Rendered in the Munich Pictorial style, they depict scenes from the life of Christ as well as images of various angels and saints.

The careful observer will discern elements from the Gothic, Romanesque, and Byzantine styles which together make up the style known as Venetian Gothic. Bishop Paprocki consecrated the new main and side altars in 2012 and the new chancel in 2014. We all owe a debt of gratitude to the Irish faithful who were the first to call this church their parish.

Visit St. Rose Church daily to pray, to participate in the liturgy celebrated at St. Rose, which follows the extraordinary form of the Roman Rite, and employs primarily the ancient Latin language. On Sunday translations of both the ordinary and proper of the Mass are provided. To follow daily Mass, you may wish to invest in a daily Latin English Missal available at the rectory or download an app like iMass. Internet access is available in church at StRoseChurch (password: latinmass). Make sure to mute your device while in church.

After both Sunday Masses, visitors are invited to meet and greet our parishioners in the parish hall and socialize over coffee and donuts. If interested in joining the parish, simply call the office.

Everything is Grace

3rd Sunday after Easter

Georges Bernanos, a Catholic writer of the first half of the 20th century, often wondered why Catholics looked so bored, so sad. Do they not believe what the Risen Christ is telling them? Are they not risen from the death of sin by baptism? Do they not have God’s life in them, the life of faith and charity? Are they not on their way to Heaven?

All the texts of the Mass today are an invitation to rejoice. Our Gospel—today as next Sunday—is taken from the chapters 13 to 17 of St. John’s Gospel, a part often called the Farewell speech. Before being betrayed and arrested, Jesus tells his apostles that he is leaving them but that he shall return shortly.

Three times the same riddle is repeated: “A little while, and you see me no more; then again a little while and you shall see me.” The disciples do not understand that Jesus is preparing them to his death and resurrection. They will be sad when they witness the death of their master. They shall weep and wail while the world rejoices, this world that refuses to acknowledge the Savior.

The Lord uses a powerful image to show how the apostles will rejoice when he returns. When a woman gives birth to a child, she suffers greatly, sometimes unbearable sufferings, and yet she forgets all her sufferings and her joy has no bound when she sees the fruit of her work. Likewise, the apostles suffer from their inadequacy and failure during the Passion, when they see Jesus again after his resurrection, they are overwhelmed by joy, a joy so deep that no one can take it away from them.

No suffering, no indifference, no hatred, nor persecution should take away our joy. When we read the lives of the saints, we see that they were the happiest people. Why is that? Their life seems so full of trials and yet they do not lose their peace and inner joy.

Eternal happiness in Heaven is without a shadow, vision of God face to face. Here below, we possess the Risen Christ through grace and charity; we have the certitude of being saved if we were in the love of God, in state of grace.

People in great pain often look mysteriously happy. True happiness is not found in the research of pleasures. We often are the main cause of our unhappiness by desiring what we do not have or what is not reasonable. True happiness is found when we realize that the most important is who we are and not what we have/possess.

Often visitors are struck by the happiness of cloistered nuns. They are deprived of most everything and yet they seem so happy. True happiness is found in the quest for the true, good, and beautiful. It is not found in the research of pleasures or material goods.

The apostle Paul seems to have been persecuted wherever he went but to this did not prevent him from preaching the Gospel and from inviting the various communities to be founded to rejoice in the Lord. He is also constantly giving thanks to God although he got quite a raw deal from God. “This man is a chosen instrument of mine (…) and I will show him what he will have to suffer for my name.” (Acts 9:15) Our joy should become our instrument of mine, and I will show him what he will have.

May God reward you all abundantly for your service!
