Trinity Sunday

Vol. 11, Number 29
Pope Francis recognized the heroic virtues of Fr. Tolton last Wednesday (June 12) making him “venerable” within the Church, only two steps away from canonization. With the decree, Catholics are now authorized to pray directly to Tolton as an intercessor before God.

Venerable John Augustus Tolton was born into slavery in Brush Creek, Monroe County, on April 1, 1854 and died in Chicago on July 9, 1897. He escaped slavery with his family during the Civil War by crossing the Mississippi River into Illinois.

The young Tolton entered St. Peter’s Catholic School in Quincy with the help of the school’s pastor, Fr. Peter McGregor. There, at age 16, he received confirmation and began tutoring in preparation for the seminary. Then Augustus enrolled in St. Francis College, now Quincy University. He received special instruction because he was far advanced over other students.

Fr. McGregor recognized his vocation to the priesthood and began tutoring in preparation for the seminary. When Father Tolton returned to the U.S. after his ordination in 1889, thousands of people lined the streets to greet him. A brass band played hymns and Negro Spirituals, and black and white people processed together into the local church.

He served for three years at St. Joseph parish, a church for black Catholics, in Quincy. At the invitation of Archbishop Patrick Feehan, he came to Chicago in 1889 to labor among a small community of black Catholics, later starting a new parish, St. Monica at 36th and Dearborn Streets. He led St. Monica Parish until his passing in 1897 at the age of 43 of a heatstroke.

The next step will be when Fr. Tolton is declared “blessed”. A miracle through his intercession will have to be verified by the Vatican. He will need another miracle before being declared “saint”.

Ladies of Charity Mission
- The Ladies of Charity of Quincy, under the direction of the Ladies of Charity USA, is launching a new outreach—that of assisting those experiencing extreme poverty in developing countries.
- “Mission Market” was created to help the Daughters of Charity Missions by providing a market for products made in their skill centers throughout the world.
- Our goal is to provide an outlet for these products so that persons who live in poverty may learn productive skills and build businesses to support their families and communities.
- The Ladies of Charity Thrift Store, 24th and Elm, Quincy, is now carrying a selection of hand-made “Mission Market” items, and will carry a larger number of items in the future, as new products are made available.

Look for “Mission Market” items in the glass display case by the check-out counter, available any time the Thrift Store is open, Tuesday through Saturday, 9 am to 4 pm. Find a gift for yourself or another, and be a gift to those to whom the Daughters of Charity minister. Thank you very much for your support.

Remembering Fr. Tolton
- Be sure to mark your calendar for Saturday July 6, when there will be a pilgrimage procession in honor of Fr. Augustus Tolton. Details are in bulletin insert.
- Mass at St. Rose will be at 7 AM that day so that parishioners can attend process.
