14th Sunday after Pentecost

Excerpt from Divine Intimacy by Fr. Gabriel of St. Mary Magdalen, O.C.D.

The Gospel again puts us on our guard against the attractiveness of earthly goods. First it affirms that no man can simultaneously serve two masters, God and Mammon, any more than one can follow the two roads at the same time: the one leading to the kingdom of God and the other to worldly pleasure.

Anyone giving himself to God must have the courage to give himself entirely, with no regrets, no backward glance—never turning from the things of the world. The soul who, after choosing the path of perfection, does not go forth generously, with its whole heart, will never be contented. It will neither experience the joy of knowing that it belongs entirely to God, nor will it have the satisfaction of being able to follow all the attractions of the world; the first will be impeded by the soul's unhappiness of being unable to follow all the attractions of the world, and in continual struggle with itself. What shall we eat? What shall we drink? Wherewith shall we be clothed? Precisely to relieve us of such anxieties, Jesus presents to us the marvelous picture of divine Providence. "Behold the birds of the air, for they neither sow nor do they reap, nor gather into barns; and your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are not you of more value than they?" These are words that give us wings and fill us with a desire to cast aside all vain preoccupations about earthly things and concentrate on seeking the kingdom of God. "Seek ye therefore first the kingdom of God and His justice, and all these things shall be added unto you."

Oh, if we only had greater faith in divine Providence, how much freer we would be to attend to the things of our soul! Although obliged to occupy ourselves with earthly affairs, we would not remain entrapped by them, but would know how to attend to them with complete liberty of spirit.

A Message From Fr. Edgar...

I want to say thank you to the members of this parish for welcoming me to Quincy. I am grateful to Fr. D and Fr. Porter for the beautiful liturgies I’ve been able to assist at here since my ordination in 2012. When Bishop Poppocci asked me to apply for the position of chaplain at the Veterans Home, what made me give an even more emphatic “yes” was the opportunity to live at St. Rose! My chaplaincy officially began August 26th, and 8 residents have already passed away - may God’s mercy be upon them - but IVHQ is a wonderful place. I simply ask for your prayers, even though you won’t see me very often on Sundays due to my obligations at the Home. I do look forward to filling in for Low Mass on various weekdays.

Thanks in advance for your understanding that, to fit my schedule, which includes literally clocking in and out, the daily Mass will always be at 12:10 when I substitute, no matter the day of the week. Unfortunately, on those days I won’t have time for confession prior to Mass, or for any preaching, as a general rule. I am simply grateful to have an opportunity to offer the Holy Sacrifice for you all. Know that too these Mass intentions are permanently recorded in my prayer intention list. It is good to be here. Thank you for your prayers for priests.
